

Amplifying the Charge

Small Group Ministry Discussion Series

Unitarian Universalism is in a new phase of growth and transition.

In anticipation of the upcoming final vote at General Assembly on the updated Article 2 bylaw (the Proposed UU Values and Covenant), please join us for this 3-session small group ministry discussion series “Amplifying the Charge”, created by ministerial aspirant QuianaDenae Perkins, and led by Rev. Dave Egan. During these three sessions we will support learning, reflection, and faithful conversations for individual and collective discernment.

Goals

- Support congregations with a process of self-paced learning
- Support small group adult faith formation
- Encourage relationship-building and covenant-keeping
- Provide historical information on our faith
- Provide theological grounding in Unitarianism, Universalism, and Unitarian Universalism
- Increase understanding of the denominational governance structure
- Provide congregants with a safe space to process their faith journey, personal history, and theological understanding.

Please join us for one or preferably all of the discussion sessions on:

May 6th, May 13th, and May 20th

7:30-8:30 pm on Zoom
